

"INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF OCCUPATIONAL MEDICINE AND ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH" INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

The "International Journal of Occupational Medicine and Environmental Health" has been published in English since February 1988. The journal was initiated by the Nofel Institute of Occupational Medicine in Łódź and the Polish Association of Occupational Medicine. Publishing the submitted papers, the Editors follow the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals stipulated by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (formerly the Vancouver Group).

Instructions to authors

The "International Journal of Occupational Medicine and Environmental Health" publishes in English editorials, original contributions, review papers, discussion papers, instructive case reports, communications on occupational and environmental health policy, letters to the Editor and book reviews. Special preference is given to papers concerning industrial hygiene, preventive medicine, diagnosis and treatment of occupational diseases, physiology and psychology of work, toxicological research, environmental toxicology, environmental epidemiology and epidemiological studies devoted to occupational and environmental problems. Manuscripts must be original and previously unpublished. Only manuscripts written in correct English will be accepted. The authors should submit the editable electronic copies of: 1) the original manuscript in Word file, 2) the title page in Word file, 3) files with editable tables, 4) files with editable figures (vector-based illustrations, in XLS, XLSX, Adobe Illustrator, PDF, CorelDRAW or EPS files). The manuscript should be typed in double-spacing on A4 paper. All pages should be numbered consecutively in the right bottom corner including references, tables and figure legends.

The manuscript should be submitted only via the Editorial System (<http://www.editorialsystem.com/jjomeh>). There is no publication charge.

Transfer of copyrights agreement

The authors should submit via the Editorial System the Transfer of Copyrights Agreement signed by all authors. The form of the agreement is available in the Editorial System (step "Agreement") after logging in. Submitting the signed agreement means that the author/s agree(s) with the reservations included in these instructions. According to the form, please indicate the input of the individual authors (including the information on the author of its concept, assumptions, methods used, etc.), while preparing the publication. Ghostwriting and guest authorship are a sign of scientific misconduct, and as such will be publicized by the editorial board by notifying the institutions employing the authors, scholarly societies, etc. Works will not be passed to Reviewers unless the scan of the agreement is submitted via Editorial System.

Title page: 1) A running title of not more than 50 characters, including spaces; 2) the title of the paper (concise, but informative); 3) the author(s) full name(s), number of affiliation given in superscript; 4) the affiliations (institution name, city, country, department name); 5) corresponding author (the name and surname, institution name, address, e-mail address, telephone number of the author to whom correspondence is to be sent); 6) the number and title of the program/research/grant under which the study has been carried out and the sources of funding used for the publication, the name and degree of the manager of the program; 7) acknowledgments: one or more statements should specify: a) contributions that need acknowledging but do not justify authorship, such as general support by a departmental chair; b) acknowledgments of technical help; c) acknowledgments of financial and material support, which should specify the nature of the support; and d) relationships that may pose a conflict of interest.

Arrangement of the manuscript

Abstract: Each paper must be preceded by a comprehensive structured abstract 1) for original papers and short communications of not more than 300 words (abstract consists of 4 sections: Objectives, Material and Methods, Results, Conclusions); 2) for review papers and case reports of not more than 250 words, without divisions into sections.

Key words: 6 key words, each one started with a capital letter.

Introduction: It should give a clear, concise account of the background of the problem and the rationale behind the investigation. Only references with a direct bearing on the work submitted should be cited.

Material and Methods: This section should be detailed so as to give the reader a clear idea of what has been done. Drugs, chemicals, etc. should be named fully, together with their sources of supply. A chemical's full name should precede its trade, common-usage name, or its abbreviation. Non-metrical measurements units, if used during the investigation, must be accompanied by their metric (SI) equivalents. Sub-sections should be used wherever possible.

Ethics: When reporting experiments on human subjects, indicate whether the procedures followed were in accordance with the ethical standards of a responsible committee on human experimentation (institutional or regional) and with the Helsinki Declaration as revised in 2013. Do not use patients' names, initials, or hospital numbers, especially in illustrative material. When reporting experiments on animals, indicate whether the institution's or a national research council's guidelines for, or any national law on the care and use of laboratory animals were followed.

Statistics: Describe statistical methods with enough detail to provide a knowledgeable reader with access to the original data to verify the reported results. When possible, quantify the findings and present them with appropriate indicators of measurement error or uncertainty (such as confidence intervals). Avoid relying solely on statistical hypothesis testing, such as the use of p values, which fails to convey important quantitative information.

Results: These should be presented in a logical sequence in the text, tables, and figures. Do not repeat in the text all data given in tables or figures; emphasize or summarize only important observations.

Discussion: Emphasize the new and important aspects of the study and a comprehensive interpretation of the results obtained against the background of the existing knowledge. Quotations should be restricted to those with immediate relevance to the author's findings. A review-like approach should be avoided.

Conclusions: Should refer to the established aims of the paper.

References: These should be numbered consecutively in the order in which they are first mentioned in the text. Identify references in the text, tables, and legends by Arabic numerals in square brackets. References cited only in the tables or in legends to figures should be numbered in accordance with the sequence established by the first identification in the text of the particular table or figure. Use the style of the examples below, which are the formats used by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE) (more sample references on http://www.nlm.nih.gov/bsd/uniform\_requirements.html). The titles of journals should be abbreviated according to the Construction of the National Library of Medicine Title Abbreviations (<http://www.nlm.nih.gov/pubs/factsheets/constructitle.html>). Additionally, if the article/book has a DOI number, it should be included in the references.

Author's proof and a copy for the author

Following the composition of the text, the author for correspondence receives the article in a PDF file. The author within the deadline set by the publisher is obliged to make and send to the publisher the author's proof, which includes only the corrections of the errors in composition. If the proof is not sent within the deadline set by the publisher, it shall have the right to issue and distribute the article in the form sent for author's proofreading, and the author shall not have the right to make any claims in respect of any uncorrected errors.

Following the publication of the journal issue, the publisher sends the link to the article in the pdf format to the e-mail address of the author for correspondence. The addressee is obliged to make it available to the co-authors (if any).
